

CAREER OPTIONS

In addition to artistic expressiveness, the study of eurythmy primarily promotes personality development and social competence, thus opening up a broad spectrum of fields of activity. In addition to working in schools and kindergartens, nursing homes and hospitals, on the stage or independent artistic projects, eurythmists can also work in companies as a development facilitator, coach or become active in biography work, refugee work, be employed by prisons and assist and support psychotherapy, addiction counseling and many other therapeutic areas of work.

The four-year undergraduate degree qualifies the graduates to teach eurythmy as well as to be artistically active in adult education. For further vocational qualifications there are specialized training offers.

Pedagogy

For work with children and adolescents as well as for eurythmy lessons at schools, the Free University of Stuttgart / Seminar for Waldorf Education in cooperation with the Eurythmeum Stuttgart offers a further comprehensive pedagogical education as a one-year master's degree (also possible as a part-time study course). Independent artistic projects from a pedagogical point of view, accompanied school internships in all grades and a written Master's thesis provide a basic qualification for educational eurythmy work in all age groups.

Stage Eurythmy

After completing the undergraduate studies, the Eurythmeum offers a three-year stage training if suitably qualified: the first year as a member of the in-house Fairytale Ensemble, and following this, a two-year collaboration as a stage student in the Else-Klink-Ensemble is possible.

Therapeutic Eurythmy

The eurythmy therapy training is an additional, qualified, vocational study, sometimes also part-time. Medical-diagnostic skills are imparted that deepen the anthroposophical understanding of the human being and develop relevant, professional skills. Therapeutic eurythmy is practiced in cooperation with doctors, in schools and companies as well as in independent entrepreneurial form in its own therapeutic practice.

Social Eurythmy

In the field of social eurythmy, the special possibilities of eurythmy are associated with social issues and needs in institutions of all kinds. The elementary handling of eurythmy, adapted to the particular situation, can free social processes from hardening and develop new creative possibilities for living together.
